SNOW JOKE!

THE big chill covered Harlow in a blanket of snow this week, bringing out the best and worst in residents as police reported 45 incidents of anti-social behaviour in just a few hours.

While most people enjoyed sledging and building snowmen, groups of youths threw snowballs at traffic, including an ambulance. The elderly and mums with children were also targeted.

Crime reduction officer Graham Anthony, of Harlow Police, said most of the complaints originated from Staple Tye, The Stow and Edinburgh Way, adding that those responsible had stretched police resources and could have created a real danger.

"We did the best we could but the levels of anti-social behaviour were very disappointing," he said.

It is thought the youths, some in gangs of up to 20, were lacing snowballs with stones to ensure maximum destruction when they struck targets.

Although nobody was injured, the issue is due to be discussed at the next meeting of the Safer Harlow Partnership to see if anything can be done to prevent such behaviour being repeated in the future.

DUVET know it's not easy being a snowman, standing around all day in sub-zero temperatures with just a scarf and hat to keep warm? This lucky fellow was provided with a double bed by his creators, Paula Harris (44) and friends Carole and Lorna when they built him in Tany's Dell, Harlow. For a full round-up of how this week's Arctic conditions affected the town - as well as a selection of some of the photographs sent in by readers - turn to pages 4 and 5.

More jobs gloom as Truck-Lite makes 74 workers redundant

JOBLESS figures have risen again in Harlow after one of the town's major employers announced scores of redundancies.

Truck-Lite, a leading manufacturer and supplier of vehicle lighting, electrical harnessing and mirror systems, has shed 74 workers following a 30-day consultation period.

And there could be further misery on the jobs front after catering firm 3663, which operates out of Greenways in Harlow Business Park, admitted this week it is also looking to reduce its workforce.

Truck-Lite has its European head office, distribution centre and technical site in the town.

Human resources director Duncan Turner said the redundancies were necessary to secure the longer term future of employees in the town during the recession.

But one disgruntled employee told the Star: "There are a lot of people who work there, some for many years, and the company has done nothing for those who are being made redundant."

"They have no clue what they should do or where to go, what their rights are and how they go about finding them out."

Reduced demand for products or services was the reason given in an official redundancy notification.

Of the 392 employees at the Barrows Road site, 51 manual workers were axed along with nine clerical, 10 professional and four managerial/technical staff.

Harlow MP Bill Rammell said he was extremely disappointed about the job losses

Thousands sign to save advice service

THOUSANDS are backing a petition to save the threatened Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice Service from devastating funding cuts proposed by cash-strapped Harlow Council.

More than 3,000 people added their names to the Friends of HWRA appeal on Saturday.

The petition will be handed to Harlow Council's ruling Tories in a bid to make them reconsider slashing the service's budget by up to 85 per cent.

Former HWRA employee Mag Barrett was among 12 Friends of the service who braved the cold to secure names in Broad Walk and said she was greatly encouraged by the response. "The response we got was a perfect illustration of just how important the Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice service is to the people of Harlow and shows what a terrible mistake it will be for the council to make these drastic cutbacks," she said.

Man (35) dies in car park plunge

ONE man died and another was seriously injured after falling from multi-storey car parks in Harlow.

The incidents, which are not connected, happened at Terminus Street and Wych Elm within days of each other.

A 35-year-old man, who has not been formally named, plunged to his death opposite the bus station in front of shocked onlookers at about 6pm last Wednesday.

Mourners this week laid floral tributes at the spot where he died.

One message read: "RIP Chris love from the lads." Another card bore the message: "Bless you. I wish I could have stopped you."

Three ambulance crews, including two rapid response cars, were scrambled to the scene after witnesses called to report the incident.

Paramedics tried in vain for an hour to resuscitate the man, understood to be from Harlow, before pronouncing him dead at the scene.

Harriett Kent-Poe (25), who works at Guardian Estate Agents, said she was walking to collect her car at the time.

By SOPHIE WARNER

"As I walked to get my car after I finished work I saw a lady crying hysterically," she said.

"I think she was the person who called the ambulance. The police had blocked off the road; no-one could see anything. The body was covered up by the police."

A post mortem examination was due to be carried out this week. Police are not treating the incident as suspicious and have passed the file to a coroner.

On Saturday a man in his 70s was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital for treatment to serious head and leg injuries after falling from the Wych Elm car park.

Staff at the nearby NHS Walk-in Centre ran out to help shortly after 9am and summoned an ambulance.

Police are not treating the incident as suspicious and it is understood the man, who has not been named, has since been discharged.

Police give theft alert

POLICE are warning residents and motorists to secure their homes and vehicles following a spate of burglaries and thefts.

In all, 11 houses and 11 cars were broken into in separate incidents between January 26 and Sunday.

The advice is to keep valuables in a safe place out of sight and ensure doors and windows are locked.

After heavy snowfalls transform Harlow into a winter

Latton Wood by J. Brown. "It was taken in fresh snow. It was a breathtaking walk and I even caught some deer in the shot."

Three days in

MUCH of Harlow is still suffering the aftermath of the worst snow fall seen in the region for 18 years.

Four days after up to nine inches of snow fell in the town, bringing with it plummeting temperatures which created dangerous blankets of ice, many pavements and cycle tracks have not been treated by county council workmen, making them treacherous to negotiate. Harlow Council said it had asked contractors to grit most public areas as well as those outside sheltered accommodation throughout the town to make them accessible.

But up to 40 elderly residents have become trapped in their own homes because thick ice still covers walkways outside.

George Brown (85), who lives in the council-run complex of properties in Risdens, said yesterday (Wednesday): "There are 40 bungalows and [the residents] can't get out and about.

"It's been three days and it still hasn't been touched. Many of the residents must be running low on things now but they can't get to the shops."

Although access to front doors of Desormeaux Bungalows had been cleared, one resident said the pavement outside the complex was still untreated and was dangerously slippery.

Essex County Council, which is responsible for ensuring footpaths are safe, has also come in for criticism after residents in Peterswood were virtually cut off. They said they were unable to grit their road because the authority had failed to fill up a salt bin.

They were left to buy their own grit to treat the road surface in order for them to get out and about.

A county council spokesman said it regularly refilled the bins and added that, where there was spare capacity, its workmen were treating walkways. However he added the authority's primary concern following Sunday's heavy snowfall was to make sure the primary road network across the county was gritted to ensure drivers' safety.

The weather brought most of the town to a standstill with many headteachers deciding to close schools on Monday, with some even staying shut on Tuesday because of staffing problems and health and safety concerns.

Roads were gridlocked as motorists

Expert advice

SIR, The directors of Harlow Save Credit Union were disappointed to learn that the financial application from Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice Service had been turned down by Harlow Council.

We know from our own association with the WRAS that the service it gives, and has given, to the people of Harlow has eased the burden of many a troubled mind.

From what all the pundits are telling us, it is patently obvious in these precarious financial times that this excellent service will be needed by even more people.

It is a fact that a lot of people faced with financial problems really do not know where to turn. If they are lucky, they will be directed to WRAS where its experience should set them on the right path.

Harlow Council does not have to be long sighted to see what is heading the way of a lot of Harlow folk. However, it does come across as being naively shortsighted in not continuing to support this excellent group of people who are long experienced in many and varied problems that could affect any Harlow citizen.

Come on Harlow Council, support our own experts!

F. Hull, president

The Rows, Harlow

Down the pan

SIR, Having used Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice Service for many years and for a variety of reasons, I was both shocked and angered by the news that it is in imminent danger of closure due to Harlow Council's decision to drastically cut funding.

Every time I go into the advice centre, I am shocked at the number of people waiting to be seen and can't help wondering where these people are supposed to go for help if the service does close.

I would urge the people of Harlow, especially those of us who have been helped by staff in the past, to throw their weight behind the campaign to keep welfare rights open in any way they can.

Staff do an excellent job and are always happy to go that extra mile to help people. It would be such a pity to see their years of expertise go down the pan.

Carol Ann Hyde
Pittmansfield, Harlow

Council shame

SIR, Harlow's Conservative councillors claim our finances are in such a critical state that they have to cut services at the Leah Manning Centre, turn sheltered housing into ordinary housing stock and cut the funding of the Welfare Rights and Advice Service, which will mean it will have to close down at a time when it is needed more than ever.

And yet they claim thousands of pounds a year in expenses. You would think that if our finances are as they say, they would give up their expenses for the next two or three years and give their services free.

Oh, I'm sorry, I forgot. They are politicians and their needs come before the community. Shame on them.

Irene Cohen
Rectory Wood, Harlow

Have a heart

SIR, I am very shocked by news that the council is even thinking about cutting services at the Leah Manning Centre.

I go there just to have my hair done but for lots of other people this is the only outlet for them to meet with their friends for a coffee, have lunch and

Parking charges will hit local shops hard

SIR, Harlow Council is trying really hard to reduce local support and usage of our neighbourhood shopping areas by proposing to charge for car parking.

In Old Harlow, Somerfeld will suffer as some customers who use it now will probably go to Tesco where parking is free. Other shops and services in the High Street will be affected, too, as will patients going to Jenner House.

Do councillors not realise these are difficult days and traders need to be helped to survive?

This is a small community shopping area, not the town centre where car parking charges can be expected.

Priory Avenue is another example of a zealous determination to rid the road of commuter parking. For years people parked on one side only of the road without problem. For some time now the parking has spread to both sides. Commuter numbers are greater than the station car park capacity so return to allowing one side, a reasonable compromise.

Our Town Park is another one on the hit list. Families bring children to enjoy Pets Corner, the children's playground or a pleasant walk over the bridge to the river. When incomes are reduced or lost, simple pleasures that cost nothing are also to be penalized.

We must all write to the council voicing vehement opposition to their latest ruse to increase income and tax us further.

I was down there just before Christmas when schoolchildren were singing carols to the people and it brought tears to my eyes as I watched them sitting in their chairs. I thought then what would they do without this place to come to.

I am sure that others will agree with me. Have a heart and long may the Leah Manning Centre remain open.

Matter of facts

SIR, I wish through your letter page to respond to Ian Beckett's letter ("Needs of the vulnerable should be given priority", January 29).

Firstly, I wish to congratulate him in becoming the new chairman of the Harlow Labour Party but, given the mess of the local and national party and the ineffectiveness of dealing with anything, I am sure there were not too many people sticking their head above the parapet for this position.

With regards to his comments, I really do not see where his information has come from.

My colleagues and I on the Conservative group are trying to deal with the sorry mess that his party left us when they were humiliated at the last election and sent packing by the residents of this town.

Mr Beckett does not seem to understand that it's not only the residents who are feeling the pinch of this credit crunch. Due to the Government's incompetence this council is suffering also, but instead of looking at the pay review awarded to certain officers as a saving of yet another £20k, he harps on about the increase itself. This is being honoured from the time his party were in power but then withdrew it just as the meeting was about to start.

With reference to sheltered housing, I really do think he should have checked all his facts, perhaps even speaking to Labour councillor Margaret Hulcoop who has attended the working parties and now supports the recommendations which have been made. The facts are completely different and it's letters such as his and other comments from Bill Rammell's merry band of followers that have actually caused the stress and concern.

With regards to the Welfare Rights and Advice Service, I was one of the councillors who sat on the call-in panel and listened to all the evidence submitted. It was very obvious to me that the real problem with the working party was the fact that they were unable to make a recommendation because the Labour Party argued not all the evidence had been heard.

Then, upon hearing evidence from officers, it became clear that the evidence had been provided to them at the first set of meetings. It also became very clear that due to Labour and the Liberal Democrats continually sending substitutes, the folders which contained all this information were not passed from one councillor to another.

The fact of the matter is that other councils are providing a similar service at a fraction of the price that we in Harlow spend.

Issues such as rent and council tax debt advice are already, and always will be, provided by Harlow Council. The Conservative council also wishes to provide value for money in all the services it provides.

So perhaps before Mr Beckett rushes to get a letter in the local press he should check the facts, unless of course it was done so that he has his name in lights for two weeks.

Lee Dangerfield, chairman
Harlow Conservative Association
Berecroft, Harlow

Housing crisis

SIR, Housing committee chairman Joshua Jolles should in principle be proud to defend the sheltered housing schemes which were built by previous administrations which had foresight and understanding of older people.

Harlow urgently needs a programme of high-quality council house building to provide accommodation for those on the waiting list of between 3,000-5,000 people.

Has the council considered how to progress the Gateway scheme where one- and two-bedroom apartments intended for social housing have been started but at present are at a standstill because the housebuilding programme is in crisis? This presents the council with an opportunity to take over and complete this scheme.

There is money available from the Government. We should take up its offer and build a better Harlow.

Tom and Maureen Topley
Willowfield, Harlow

Pay priority

SIR, Over the last few months, I have realised that those people whose jobs are needed are getting paid less and less while all the footballers, celebrities, music stars and other people who the country don't need get more and more. I am appalled at this behaviour.

Thomas Carroll (9)

Cocaine pair caught after police swoop

TWO men who admitted possessing cocaine with intent to supply have been spared jail by a judge.

Patrick Orange (30) and Darren Mills (30), both of Rushes Mead, Harlow, were instead given a community order and a suspended jail term respectively after police found cocaine worth up to £1,400 at their home.

Orange, who rented a room in the house and had merely touched a container with the drugs in it and had taken messages, was given a 12-month community order to do 100 hours of unpaid work by Judge Peter Fenn at Chelmsford Crown Court.

Mills was given a 12-month jail sentence suspended for 18 months and ordered to attend a drug rehabilitation programme. Sarah Vine, prosecuting, said police raided the property in December 2007 and found wraps of cocaine in containers in the kitchen and digital scales. The purity of the drug was between nine and 60 per cent. Orange arrived at the house later and was arrested while Mills, who was contacted by telephone, later gave himself up. Sentencing the pair, Judge Fenn said Orange's was a technical offence and told Mills: "I am going to give you a chance of carrying on your good work to rid yourself of the addiction."

Boy endures ear op wait

By ELEANOR SCOTCHBROOK
star@hertsexnews.co.uk

A BOY of five has been kept waiting 18 months to receive treatment for a persistent ear infection.

Charlie Millross has endured a foul-smelling discharge from his ear since August 2007 but despite many trips to his GP and a Princess Alexandra Hospital consultant, he is still suffering.

He was first referred to PAH's ear, nose and throat department in October 2007 but after suffering a perforated eardrum the following month, his worried grandparents paid for him to see a private consultant who suggested he might have a cholesteatoma, an abnormal skin growth behind the ear drum.

Almost nine months later he was sent for a CT scan and in October last year his parents learned the private consultant's diagnosis was correct.

However, despite receiving the scan results almost four months ago, Charlie is still waiting to undergo mastoid surgery.

DELAY: Charlie Millross with mum Hayley

His mother Hayley Luck (28), of Moorfield, said the infection had knocked his confidence and affected his school work.

St James' Primary pupil Charlie has been taunted by classmates and fallen behind in class, leaving him on the special needs register. The infection has also affected his hearing and he is seeing a speech therapist.

"His ear weeps constantly and needs cleaning all the time," said Miss Luck. "Sometimes he wakes up in the night sweating because the infection is affecting the rest of his body.

"It's really knocked his confidence and he can't do the things normal little boys do. It's very frustrating and I'm also worried about all the antibiotics he's been given. I've made an official complaint and been told the waiting lists are very long."

A PAH spokesman apologised and said a date for surgery has now been offered.

Matthew's mountain challenge

THE sky's the limit for a young man who is tackling the mental and physical challenge of climbing the highest mountain in Africa.

Matthew Mouncey (19) is undertaking the gruelling eight-day ascent of Mount Kilimanjaro in Kenya to raise money for the Epping Breast Cancer Unit after being motivated by his mother's fight and recovery from the disease during the past 18 months.

Matthew, of Woodwards, Harlow, said: "It hit home when my mum was diagnosed with breast cancer just how everyone has been affected in some way, not just the women but the husbands and sons who watch as family members suffer.

"The care and dedication shown by the Epping unit drove me to give something back. A little bit of fundraising is the least I can do."

However, he must raise a minimum of £4,000 before he can take part in the adventure, which is scheduled for August. He intends to raise the cash through sponsorship, fundraising and the generosity

By SOPHIE WARNER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

of family and friends.

It is not the first mountain he has set out to conquer for the cause. Last year, he reached the top of Ben Nevis in a climb organised by Charity Challenge, a team which orchestrates various fundraisers for the Epping unit.

"I've got a training program, although I haven't done any of it yet," he told the Star. "But I'm doing Ben Nevis again so I'm counting that as a mini-training exercise if you like."

He added: "I cannot wait but I am really, really nervous at the same time. When I did Ben Nevis it tired me out, and that was just for a day. This is for eight!"

And he already has an eye on his next fundraising adventure. "I am hoping to do a jungle expedition planned in Peru in June 2010, but it depends on the success of this one," he said.

Downing Street date for residents' champ

DOWNING Street opened its doors to a Harlow man in recognition of the work he does in the local community.

Mike Duckmanton, chairman of the Harlow Common Residents Forum, was nominated by local MP Bill Rammell to attend a reception held at No. 10 to recognise the importance of community leaders.

Both Mr Duckmanton and Mr Rammell met Chancellor of the Exchequer Alistair Darling and other MPs.

"It was a pleasure to visit No. 10 and see the rooms where so many historic decisions were made," said Mr Duckmanton. "It is somewhere you only get the chance to see once in a lifetime.

"I enjoy working with other residents to the benefit of the community and our town and I feel this recognition is as much for them as me."

Mr Rammell said every MP received one invitation to extend to a community stalwart of their choice. "I chose Mike as my guest for the tireless energy he gives in his capacity as chair of the Harlow Common Residents Forum," he said.

"He is constantly working on behalf of other forum members, lobbying decision-makers and companies to make life in the area better for everyone. I cannot thank him enough."

Army cadets mount a recruitment drive

ATTEN-SHUNNN! New recruits are needed to bolster the ranks of Harlow's Army Cadets.

The groups, which meet in Harlow and Old Harlow, have a total of just 24 members at present, but organisers are hoping to encourage more youngsters to join the force which will celebrate its 150th anniversary next year.

Lieutenant Kevin Gallifant, of the Essex Army Cadet Force, said: "It's great fun and value for money as well with a free uniform issued on loan. If the cadets grow out of it or damage it, for example on an assault course, they just exchange it.

"It costs about £6.50 to send a son or daughter away for a weekend and that includes three square meals a day, accommodation and all the activities. Most of the time, transport from a local pick-up point is provided as well."

The two detachments in Harlow meet at the Cadet Centre in Bush Fair from 7.30-9.30pm Tuesdays and the TA Centre in Old Road, Old Harlow, from 7.30-9.30pm on Thursdays.

For more information, call (01245) 462302 or visit the website at www.essexarmycadets.co.uk.

Call to give blood

Shop staff dress down to aid hearing charity

MEMBERS of the public were given a wake-up call on hearing loss thanks to a charity fundraiser at a Harlow travel agency.

Workers at Co-operative Travel, in the Tesco complex at Church Langley, donned slippers, nightgowns and dressing gowns to promote the work of the Royal National Institute for the Deaf, which helps people with impaired hearing.

The company-wide fundraising day aimed to raise £2m for the cause, with branches up and down the country joining in the fun.

Crematorium set to be privatised

PARNDON Wood Cemetery and Crematorium will be leased to a private operator by September, the Star can reveal.

The facility in Paringdon Road has been criticised for a variety of failings by health and safety officers as well as bereaved families during the past year.

Now Harlow Council is looking to effectively wash its hands of the service by inviting bids for a 25-year lease.

The part-privatisation, approved in January 2008, means the council

By CHRIS MOSS
moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

will remain the owner and retain control regarding any significant changes, but the new leaseholder will be expected to invest heavily in the service on top of paying a flat annual fee.

All 11 workers will be transferred to the chosen partner with protection of the terms and conditions of their original contracts, but the council cannot guarantee the new leaseholder will decide to keep everyone on.

Environment and community committee chairman Eddie Johnson said a key factor in the decision to switch to a partnership contract was the level of investment required to meet new EU legislation on eradicating mercury emissions.

"It is very clear that the facility requires investment and the new EU laws on eradicating mercury emissions by 2012 would cost us in the region of £600,000 in order to replace cremation equipment," he said.

"Bereaved families locally deserve a facility that is a pleasant and well maintained and in the future we will be faced with difficult decisions over how this can be provided.

"Although local authorities have run similar facilities for many years, there has been an increase in experienced and well-trusted organisations managing and owning crematoriums."

The facility was heavily criticised by inspectors in December 2007, while the Star has featured several stories concerning bereaved families disgusted with their experiences of the cemetery over the past year.

Date set for trial of 'sex case' councillor

A HARLOW councillor accused of sexually abusing a 13-year-old girl is to stand trial at the Crown Court.

David Kirton, of Longbanks, has been remanded in custody pending the trial which is due to start on June 8.

A further interim hearing has been scheduled for April 20.

Kirton (55), a former Conservative councillor who now sits as an independent, is charged with three offences which it is alleged took place since February 1 last year.

Police bail suspects in hare hunt

TWO men from Harlow are among a group of seven arrested on suspicion of hare coursing.

Police arrested the group following a chase across fields near Hunsdon on Tuesday.

All seven have been released on bail until March.

Sergeant Chris Hunt said: "Hare coursing has an extremely negative impact on rural communities, damaging land, ruining livelihoods and ultimately affecting the quality of life of residents."

PAH winning war against deadly bugs

INFECTION rates at Princess Alexandra Hospital have fallen again.

Latest figures show that since April 2008 the hospital reported a total of six cases of MRSA compared with 18 cases this time last year.

The number of cases of Clostridium difficile have also plummeted, with 23 recorded incidents during the past nine months.

PAH is now one of country's best performing hospitals and is currently being showcased by the Department of Health as one of three hospital sites across the country leading the way in setting standards of good practice.

During 2007/08 there were 22 cases of MRSA – exactly half the number of cases recorded at PAH three years ago. Last year saw a total of 122 C.diff cases in all age groups compared to 315 in people aged over 65 two years ago.

Dr Shico Visuvanathan, consultant microbiologist and director of infection prevention and control, said: "We are continuing to make real progress in reducing C.diff. This is in part because of the rigorous and effective antibiotic regime we introduced last year but also because of the hard work and vigilance of staff."

"The enlarged cleaning teams at the hospital are continuing to have a real impact with every clinical area being cleaned once a day and several times a day where traces of C.diff are found."

Banker in boat brawl avoids jail sentence

SENTENCED: Christopher Liddard

A BANKER who threw a punch at a pleasure boat captain after being ejected for drunkenly abusing passengers has been given 100 hours of community service.

Christopher Liddard (23) lashed out at Martin Welsh after he and his brother Andrew Liddard (28) were thrown off the Millennium of Peace at Tower Bridge on June 2, 2007.

In the scuffle that followed, Mr Welsh's second in command – Michael Reed (67) – collapsed and died of a heart attack.

Following a trial at the Old Bailey, Christopher Liddard, of Challinor, Harlow, was cleared of the manslaughter of Mr Reed. But jurors were unable to reach a verdict on his brother who will now face a retrial in July.

On Friday Christopher returned to the Old Bailey for sentence. He was ordered to carry out 100 hours of unpaid work after he admitted a charge of common assault against Mr Walsh. Judge Peter Rook told him:

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertssexnews.co.uk

"You, together with your brother and a friend, boarded the pleasure cruiser. There were many passengers on board enjoying the early summer evening and your brother's loutish and boorish behaviour led the captain to ask the three of you to disembark and you all eventually did so."

"Whilst your brother was being restrained by your friend, you swung a full-blooded and wild punch at the captain who had been doing his best to deal with a difficult situation. This in turn led to the escalation of this incident."

The judge said it was an aggravating feature of the attack that the target was the boat's captain and in a position of responsibility.

He added: "I don't accept that there was provocation. In my view Mr Welsh was trying to deal with a very difficult situation indeed."

"I am just persuaded that this is not an appropriate case for a custodial sentence."

Liddard was also ordered to pay £70 costs.

During the trial of the brothers the jury was told that father-of-three Mr Reed had been married for 44 years and had suffered heart problems since 2001.

Do something amazing ...join the Race for Life

THE countdown to one of Harlow's biggest annual fundraising events has started.

Organisers of the Harlow Cancer Research UK Race for Life – which takes place in the Town Park on Sunday, May 10 – are hoping to attract a record-breaking 3,000 participants.

And this year the Star is throwing its weight behind their efforts by becoming the charity's official newspaper partner for the event, one of more than 230 taking place throughout the country between May and July.

Race for Life is now the UK's largest women-only fundraiser. Participants who sign up to take part can walk, jog or run the 5k course and in the process raise money to help beat cancer.

Lucy Hynes, area event manager for Harlow, said: "We hope that everyone will accept our invitation to do something amazing by taking part in the Race for Life.

"Women of all ages, abilities, shapes and sizes join in. They motivate and inspire each other to complete the course. Many simply walk around, chatting and having fun, but they all share the wonderful spirit of sisterhood and pride on the day.

"Cancer Research UK is delighted to have the Star as their newspaper partner for the Race for Life in Harlow."

Last year a total of 2,126 women took part in the Harlow event – the seventh to be held in the town – and raised an incredible £160,000. Many of those were cancer survivors or were participating in memory or celebration of a family member of friend whose lives had been touched by the disease.

"The number of people surviving cancer is increasing. In the 1960s fewer than three out of 10 children diagnosed with cancer were successfully treated; now it's seven out of 10. Today more than 95 per cent of men diagnosed with testicular cancer are cured and more women are surviving breast cancer than ever before, but we still have a long way to go.

"Despite improvements in treatment, one in four people in the UK will die from cancer. With your help, we want to change that. Cancer Research UK believes that research is the key to developing better ways of preventing, detecting and treating cancer."

This year the organisers are setting a target of £193,000 for the Harlow event. And we want as many Star readers as possible to sign up. All you have to do to enter is register by logging on to the website at www.raceforlife.org or call 0871 641 2282.

During the next few weeks, we will feature reports about the work Cancer Research UK is doing in Harlow and look at the stories behind the headlines – of people who have survived cancer, who have taken part in the Race for Life and of the army of volunteers who made the whole thing possible.

But this week we are asking YOU to do something amazing – join the Race for Life and encourage your friends, family and colleagues to take up the challenge too.

creative. It took place in the school's main hall where the children told stories of heroes and heroines using shoeboxes as props.

Event organiser Michelle Hughes: "We held this event year and the kids and everyone who was invited had a great time. The children judged the exhibition themselves." Book week allows pupils to read more books, as well as to write their own stories and present them in class. They also got the chance to design their own themed posters.

Taking tea with the headteacher

TANY'S DELL: Parents had the chance to meet and quiz the new headteacher during a formal meet-and-greet session at the school. Bernadette Miele, pictured above, invited parents and guardians to afternoon tea during which they had the opportunity to ask her questions and give opinions on the school and its policies.

Mrs Miele, who took up her post at the Mowbray Road school in the New Year, said: "The afternoon went very well. I feel honoured to be on this new post; it is the best school I have worked at. I want to continue to raise the standards of Tany's Dell."

Days packed with sheer ox-citement

YOUNGSTERS celebrated the Chinese New Year of the Ox in style at nursery schools in Harlow.

Children at SCHOOLGATE NURSERY in Carters Mead, pictured above, dressed up to learn more about the culture of the Orient culture As well as making lanterns, cards and a collage of Chinese images, their home corner was transformed into a Chinese home where they dressed up in costume and ate Chinese food. Manager Anita Parrish said: "All the children enjoyed the week, especially the food tasting and playing in the decorated Chinese home corner." Meanwhile, children at RAINDROPS NURSERY in Hare Street, pictured below, tucked into a feast of Chinese food courtesy of the Crystal Palace restaurant in High Street, Old Harlow.

'Vigilante' thugs jailed for assault

Rosetta's 100-year milestone

SPRIGHTLY Rosetta White will be the talk of the town when she celebrates her 100th birthday today (Thursday) with family and friends.

The Stratford-born woman will be joined by her son, daughter-in-law and some of her four grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren for a special party to mark the milestone at Ashlyn Care Home in Harlow.

Daughter-in-law Marion White (69), of Burnett Park, said: "It's a real landmark for her to reach her 100th birthday and we're all going to make sure she has a very special day."

"One of her granddaughters has baked her a cake and the care home will be laying on a special tea and presenting her with a bouquet of flowers, so I'm sure she'll have a lovely time."

TWO thugs who launched a brutal attack on a vulnerable young man in a park have been jailed for a total of seven years.

Victim Kelvin Ward suffered a broken jaw requiring surgery in what was described as a vigilante attack.

Jailing David Townsend (19), of Spinning Wheel Mead, Harlow, for three years and Daniel Moore (19), from Chelmsford, for four years, Judge Anthony Goldstaub QC told them: "This was a vulnerable young man. You attacked him and when he was on the ground begging for mercy, you kicked and stamped on his head."

"He received a fractured jaw and other injuries and one witness said his face exploded with blood."

Townsend and Moore, who carried out the attack in Chelmsford, had both denied but were found guilty of causing grievous bodily harm with intent to Kelvin Ward in December 2007.

Chelmsford Crown Court had been told Kelvin suffered severe learning difficulties which resulted in him having the intellectual capacity of a child of five or six.

He had received a text asking him to go to the park. Prosecuting, Peter Clark said that when he arrived, he was knocked to the ground and subjected to a sustained and vicious assault.

"If this was a vigilante-style attack, there was no excuse for it," added Mr Clark.

Mr Ward, who had received a police caution for sexually touching a 10-year-old child, was "assumed to be the victim of some grievance", said the judge.

Boot camp fighting fat

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor
sassoona@hertsexnews.co.uk

COUCH potatoes may flinch at the thought of going to a gym but a family of fitness fanatics are determined to get Harlow's residents in shape via gruelling Army-style boot camps.

Gary Stanley, wife Kate, brother Billy and sister-in-law Suzy decided to do something about the town's growing obesity problem by going into business with tough six-week courses comprising fitness and weight-loss exercises.

The intensive one-hour sessions combine mat work, weights and cardiovascular exercise, with a large portion of military-style encouragement to push participants to their limits to shed excess pounds.

To add to the ambience of the sessions, the boot camps will be held outside during the summer, only retreating to the sports centre, at Mark Hall, in winter.

The initiative comes after health chiefs revealed the number of obese people in the town was above the national average.

Gary (32), of Challinor, Harlow said: "It has been a real success so far and we have had already had the maximum number of participants join up to our New Year camp, so we are hoping the Easter and summer camps will be just as successful.

"It really is an all-over body work out and people who have been coming have been really successful in shifting the weight. We thought it was a good idea as many people find they lack motivation going to the gym."

For information, email www.stanley4Fitness.com or call Mr Stanley on 07545 314416.

Housing trauma of heart patient

A MAN recovering from heart surgery has been evicted after housing chiefs ruled he was not eligible for a council home.

Electrician Alan Henderson, pictured above, was given just seven days to pack his bags and leave his temporary accommodation in Altham Grove, Harlow.

Mr Henderson (47) has worked all his life and has rented in the private sector since losing his house in the last recession during the early 1990s.

However, he was recently made redundant from his job and soon found himself homeless and sleeping on a friend's sofa.

Eight weeks ago he underwent a life-saving heart valve replacement and thought his luck had changed when Harlow Council agreed to house him in temporary accommodation while he recovered.

But last week the authority told him he is not eligible for a council house and had to leave.

"I am just so angry," said Mr Henderson. "I just don't know what you have to do in order to get housed by the local authority."

"Through no fault of my own I lost my job and have heart problems and yet the council is saying they can't help me."

"I can't get a job at the moment because there are none out there. I just don't know what to do."

Mr Henderson, who has lived in Harlow for 14 months, claims he was also told he was not allowed to join the housing register but this was reversed after he complained.

A council spokesman said it would not comment on individual cases but added it may have an interim duty to provide temporary accommodation pending the outcome of an investigation into a particular application.

Centre a focus for the elderly

By LOUISE SASSOON

IT seems an appropriate time, given the impending reduction of services at Harlow's Leah Manning Centre, to look back at the facility in its hey day.

Opened in 1980 and named after the first post-war MP for Harlow, who was actively involved in social causes, it was built to serve the needs of elderly people who were fit and active as well as those who were housebound and disabled.

When it opened it was hailed as one of the best examples of day care in the country due to the wide-ranging services it offered to the town's elderly population.

Now, many services such as hairdressing, drop-in lunches and dancing look set to be off-limits to pensioners unless they are referred by Social Services.

SONG AND DANCE: A taste of the entertainment laid on at the centre in 1982 (s)

Regular correspondent Ron Bill wrote to Nostalgia to tell us how the facility was set up with the town's ageing residents in mind.

"Older age is not the most welcome time of life; health is not always 100 per cent. For people relying on the state pension and supplements, spending has to be carefully controlled," he said.

"The day centre working party considered these factors before deciding upon the type of centre Harlow needed.

"The first priority was to give housebound elderly residents at least one day out per week and it was planned to buy an ambulance with tail-lifts to accommodate wheelchair users.

"The working party decided the day centre should be multi-functional, offering a warm welcome, appropriate services and activities and a restaurant to serve the varied needs of the then 14,000 retired residents.

"When Leah Manning opened, it welcomed Members of Parliament, councillors, Social Services chiefs and architects around the UK. Virtually everyone said it was the best they had seen."

Mr Bill added: "It has served the town of Harlow's retired residents well. It is unique in its field and is still one of Harlow's crown jewels."

NEGLECT IN EDUCATION

Harlow Council has slammed Essex County Council for its 'neglect' in the reorganisation of secondary education in the town. With just seven months to go before the opening of the new tertiary college, Harlow Education Monitoring Group says there are still many unsolved problems.

ALL FOR SOME SAUSAGES

Vandals who caused £200 worth of damage breaking into a car took just 6lb of sausages worth £4.20. The car, which is owned by a butcher, was parked in the Moat House hotel when the crook struck.

Do you remember when the bandstand rocked?

GREETINGS pop pickers! I'm after memories of pop concerts at Harlow Town Park bandstand in the 1970s. The Museum of Harlow's David Devine has told Nostalgia that after the success of concerts in Market Square and the Water Gardens in the 1960s, a bandstand was constructed in the park in the 1970s to host gigs for those aged 13-20. The free All Star Pop Concerts were held on Saturdays from 7-10pm and were run alongside existing children's shows and Sunday afternoon jazz or band concerts. From 1973-80, artists playing included Atomic Rooster, Mungo Jerry, 10cc, The Rubettes and Eddie & The Hot Rods.

The gigs drew thousands, with the largest audiences for The Bay City Rollers and Mud. In most cases, these well known acts were supported by bands from the burgeoning Harlow music scene.

Do you remember any of them or were you in the crowd at a concert? If so, write to Nostalgia at 6 Westgate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Council 'must build homes'

By CHRIS MOSS

mossc@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Council will fail to meet the housing needs of thousands of residents unless it takes advantage of new Government incentives for local authorities to build more homes, according to the town's MP.

More than 6,000 people are currently on the authority's waiting list for a council property and Bill Rammell claims the situation will only get worse unless the ruling Tory administration embraces the plan.

"We need to do everything we can to reduce the number of people in this town waiting for a council home and I think this announcement is the most positive news we have had in years," he said.

The proposals – due to come into effect in the next few months – will let councils borrow more money to fund building and also keep the proceeds from rentals and sales.

The Government hopes this relaxation of the strict rules which have previously discouraged local authorities from adding to their social housing stock will ease the burden on waiting lists and help kick-start the faltering construction industry.

"Too few council homes are currently built in the UK but these plans will give hope to those on council waiting lists, especially during the recession.

"I will strongly urge Harlow Council to take advantage of the incentives on offer to increase the building of council homes."

A council spokesman told the Star: "The council is identifying the financial and practical implications of the announcement and will be working with its partners to formulate a response to this initiative.

"It is committed to working in partnership to take opportunities to address the housing needs in Harlow."

FUMING: Maurice Lester with the new meter replacing the one that was stolen (photo: XPK2P7WL/02)

OAP's gas-tly theft

A PENSIONER was astonished to find crooks had stolen his gas meter. Maurice Lester (75) realised his Shawbridge home had no gas supply last week. After contacting neighbours, he called British Gas and a workman told him the meter had been taken.

"The gas man said there have been five gone, all told, and gave me a heater until a new one had been fitted.

"I just couldn't believe it – it was a bit of a shock but I suppose there's no point in crying about it, these things happen."

Mr Lester had his supply reconnected the next day.

A British Gas spokeswoman said she was not aware of a spate of thefts in the area but said it was a problem experienced by the entire gas industry throughout the country.

Fatal crash man named

AN 87-year-old Sawbridge-worth man who died on January 25 in a car crash has been named.

Ronald McLeod, of Spinney Court, The Orchard, was declared dead at the scene on the A414 Stanstead Abbots bypass after his blue Ford Mondeo collided with a barrier. No other vehicles were involved.

He had been travelling east at about 6.35pm. The road was closed in both directions between the Amwell roundabout and the Roydon Road junction until Monday afternoon because of damage to the barrier.

An inquest into Mr McLeod's death has been opened and adjourned by a Hertfordshire coroner. The cause of death, subject to confirmation, has been given as multiple injuries.

Pair survive sea ordeal in large ice box

YOU may have seen on television the incredible story of two fishermen who managed to survive for almost a month in shark-infested waters by floating in an ice box after their boat sank.

The men, who are both in their 20s, were spotted by a coastal patrol aircraft and winched to safety by a helicopter.

Their ordeal began when their fishing boat sank in heavy seas off the north coast of Australia a few days before Christmas.

Nearly 20 of their fellow crew members drowned when the wooden boat capsized in a terrible storm, but the two men managed to cling onto a large ice box which had been used to store their catch.

After being rescued, they were immediately taken to hospital. The good news is that they are recovering well.

They will now be questioned by police who want to piece together the events leading up to their rescue.

Investigators want to find out what the men ate and drank while in the ice box, which was about the same size as a large desk.

Happy Birthday

ANDRENA Furniture Ltd is a family-owned and managed company, established in 1973 as a manufacturer of traditional oak furniture.

As trends have changed, we have produced more contemporary designs to suit modern living, but we still retain the high quality production techniques associated with traditional furniture.

Until 2001, we only supplied our furniture to trade and for export. But after moving to Geddings Road, Hoddesdon, we were able to open directly to the public, offering prices lower than the high street. That move being so successful for us, we now offer many more ranges from carefully selected manufacturers to complement our own furniture.

Our bespoke making service means you can have any piece made in any reasonable size and finished in any colour (eight standard colours are available and we also offer a colour-matching service). Delivery lead time is always an issue with buying furniture, but not at Andrena Furniture Ltd. With our own range we offer a four-week delivery time and the suppliers we work with can complete and order in a six- to eight-week period.

The showroom is deceptively large - extending to 6,000 sq ft. There are many different ranges on display, including a new kitchen range available in 20 colours from Neptune Classics.

Andrena Furniture Ltd offers a no-pressure sales environment. Complimentary hot drinks are available and helpful staff are always on hand to offer help and advice.

Tap into beautiful new bathrooms

THE Cheshunt Bathroom Centre, a family run business, continues to thrive and celebrated its 10th anniversary last year.

More and more customers are making the Cheshunt Bathroom Centre their first port of call for first class service and top quality products. You'll find one of the very best displays in the area, well laid-out in a tiled setting for easy viewing. Top names such as Ideal Standard, Kudos, Roman, Aqualisa plus many more are available.

It's well worth a visit to the showroom if you are thinking of upgrading your bathroom.

And to help you visualise how your new bathroom could look the Cheshunt Bathroom Centre can provide you with a computer generated image tailored to your requirements.

Staff pride themselves on offering high levels of customer service: from your initial visit to the showroom to completion of your new bathroom, you will receive the best attention at all times.

There is a 'supply-only' service on all products with competitive prices, or 'fully installed' service, including electrics and tiling.

The furniture range that grows with your family

TOTS to Teens Furniture Barn has evolved so much over the past 12 years since its early development in a Hertford workshop.

Its growth into many sectors of the children's furniture market is displayed in a large showroom (3,500sq ft) with a second shop specialising in junior beds, furniture, soft furnishings and accessories at London Colney.

The showrooms located at Willows Farm Village, just outside the farm park entrance, have some wonderful displays, including the Flexa 'build system beds' among others of a similar style in competitive price ranges. These beds, which have a large range of supporting furniture, given an economical way of providing durable furniture for years to come by a system of adding legs and ladders to change the bed heights for children's differing ages and use.

Alternatively, for the traditionalist, there are many other styles of bed, including metal and hardwood frames, with supporting furniture including a British made-to-measure cabinet service for wardrobes, chests of drawers, bedsides, bookcase, etc, in all finishes, plus smaller beds for those awkward-sized rooms.

Shutterly fabulous

STEVE and Jennet Pitch started The Herts Shutter Company after falling in love with this beautiful, versatile product.

"When we moved three years ago we were looking for a different and stylish solution to dress our windows - shutters was the answer," says Jennet.

We are a small local, family-run business which sells the same product as our larger rivals, but where we stand out is that you get one person seeing the job through from initial contact to final installation, giving excellent customer service.

Shutters are custom made to your specification and are available in five products with varying cost options and in every colour of the rainbow.

We have now extended our range to blinds, including roller, panel, vertical, Roman, wood and metal Venetians.

After a long search, we found products that we have confidence in; they complement our shutter range for looks and price.

All our products are suitable for domestic and commercial properties.

So now we are The Herts Shutter & Blind Company.

Call 01992 464375 or 07960 297 666 for a free home consultation.

Tastes of the ancient world by drama group

MOOT House Players is lacing its annual family production with a little Eastern magic when it presents Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves.

The show, which opens tonight, is the latest in a series of fresh adaptations of classic tales by writer/director Bett Hewlett and for this version of the popular Arabian Nights tale she went back to the original story.

"Ali Baba is one of the most famous of these tales," said MHP chairman Geoff Leeds. "Presented as storytelling brought to life in theatre, our production is a sort of antidote to pantomime – not that we have anything against that uniquely British art form, it's just that it is nice to be able to tell the actual story for once. "We can promise a rather good set, courtesy of Paul Regeli and Bett, effective costumes, music, dance and excellent acting to help bring the tale to life, and – in a strong message for our times – it delivers a lesson against greed!"

Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves will be staged at Moot Hall, in The Stow, tonight, tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday February at 8pm, with a 3pm Saturday matinee.

Staying in the ancient world, February 22 will see a new departure for the troupe when it holds an audition/reading for the Greek classic Lysistrata. The reading will give those wishing to be involved in the forthcoming production a chance to meet and talk about the play and this translation.

Written about 411 BC, this is probably the best known of Aristophanes' plays and concerns the Hellenic women who, despairing at the neglect of their men, take a vow never to sleep with their husbands until lasting peace is declared. Their victory is inevitable, but the process by which they achieve their ends is both clever and hilariously funny.

Director Rosemary Caswell said: "I was lucky enough to see Sir Peter Hall's production in the ancient theatre of Epidavros a couple of summers ago. I do not remember ever laughing so much at any play that I have seen before or since."

The text is raunchy and outspoken like the characters and definitely for adults and not for children nor the fainthearted. Rehearsals will start in earnest on March 22.

Simply mod for tribute show

SOMEWHAT snobbishly, I've always avoided tribute acts. The very concept leaves me cold.

But the chance to hear live the music of the Small Faces and The Jam – two of my favourite bands – was enticing enough for me to cast aside preconceptions.

This was the first date in the March Of The Mods tour, which brings together the Small Fakers and Wellalive on one stage in a tribute to the finest music the suit-and-scooter brigade had to offer across several decades.

The show was introduced by Chip Hakwes of The Tremeloes (and dad of Chesney, fact fans)

REVIEW

MARCH OF THE MODS

The Playhouse, Harlow

who shared the bill with Steve Marriott and co several times in the 1960s – and he gave a ringing endorsement to the Fakers, who effortlessly reproduced the iconic '60s sound of the Small Faces in two-and-a-half minute blasts of tight musicianship.

Recreating the look and sound of Marriott, one of the finest voices in British pop history, is a tall order but Fakers frontman Matt was up to the task. In fact, from row M it was downright spooky.

Wellalive, in keeping with the Jam's punkier late '70s leanings, were more ragged but no less accomplished. Charismatic singer Johnny had Paul Weller's vocal nuances down to a tee, especially when ripping through a pre-interval set of Jam classics before moving on to his Style Council and solo material.

The stage set-up – in which one band sat and nodded while the other performed – proved slightly distracting until it was vindicated in an encore in which all the players came together for an exhilarating rendition of the Small Faces' All or Nothing.

Grandfather's war

ACTOR Cameron Stewart steps into the shoes of his grandfather to explore the reality and legacy of the First World War.

In My Grandfather's Great War, he quotes from Captain Alexander Stewart's diaries and gives an insight into his family's experiences of the last century.

Acclaimed at The Edinburgh Festival, My Grandfather's Great War has been lauded as both a very personal tribute from one man to his ancestor and also an exploration of notions such as heroism and patriotism.

Captain Stewart's diaries were a family heirloom for 70 years, until Cameron decided to publish them online in 2007. Since then, they have sold thousands of downloaded copies and were published in hardback by Hodder & Stoughton as A Very Unimportant Officer.

The show has been adapted and directed by David Benson, perhaps better known for his electrifying one-man show Think No Evil Of Us: My Life With Kenneth Williams.

Oscar glory beckons for Pitt the younger

THE CURIOUS CASE OF BENJAMIN BUTTON
certificate 12A, running time 2h45m

BASED on a short story by F Scott Fitzgerald, The Curious Case Of Benjamin Button is the frontrunner at this year's Oscars with a hefty 13 nominations.

Were it not for Slumdog Millionaire, David Fincher's visually arresting, realist fable would probably sweep the board in a similar fashion to The English Patient. However, this technically dazzling epic still stands a good chance of cluttering the mantelpiece with golden statuettes.

The film opens in a New Orleans hospital room where Caroline (Julia Ormond) watches as her elderly mother Daisy (Cate Blanchett) clings to life. To pass the time, Caroline reads from an extraordinary journal chronicling the life of the eponymous hero, starting with his birth in 1918.

But the mewling infant looks like an old man, with ossified bones and wrinkled skin, and will apparently die within hours. When he is abandoned by his father in the dead of night, it is African-American retirement home nurse Queenie (Taraji P Henson) who raises him as her own.

When Benjamin (Brad Pitt) is eventually strong and old enough to leave the retirement home, he seeks his fortune aboard a tugboat captained by a hard-drinking Irishman (Jared Harris) and finds romance with a beautiful ballet dancer who will pirouette her way into his heart.

The Curious Case Of Benjamin Button recalls Forrest Gump, possessing the same gaudy and ambition as it juxtaposes an ordinary man's extraordinary escapades against a backdrop of 20th century American history.

Digital trickery superimposes Pitt's face onto the bodies of other actors until he is able to embrace the lead role entirely. He perfectly captures his character's inner turmoil – the fear of forging emotional bonds because “while everybody else was ageing, I was getting younger all alone.”

YOUNG AT HEART: Brad Pitt in THE CURIOUS CASE OF BENJAMIN BUTTON

also new this week

BOLT 3D
certificate U, running time 1h27m

MAN'S best friend learns to stand on his own four paws in this animated comedy poking fun at our obsession with celebrity. Breathlessly orchestrated action sequences and the requisite lashings of Disney sentiment guarantee top pedigree entertainment for the entire family, underscored with a message about the responsibilities of owning a dog. Since he was a pup, Bolt (voiced by John Travolta) has been the star of a popular TV series in which he plays a genetically engineered canine with superpowers. Raised on the set, Bolt truly believes he's a superhero with the strength to charge down speeding vehicles but when fate throws him into the big bad world, he joins forces with a sarcastic alley cat and a deranged hamster in a ball to make his way in the world.

THE SECRET OF MOONACRE
certificate U, running time 1h43m

ORPHANED at a young age, plucky 13-year-old Maria Merryweather (Dakota Blue Richards) is forced to seek lodgings with her eccentric and gruff uncle on the isolated Moonacre Valley estate.

She soon learns of an ancient feud between her family and the De Noir clan and comes to realise she holds the key to reuniting the warring estates by tracking down a set of magical pearls.

HE'S JUST NOT THAT INTO YOU
certificate 12A, running time 2h9m

A COMEDY about the affairs of the heart of various twenty- and thirty-something men and women, who all inhabit the same dating pool in present day Baltimore.

Mary (Drew Barrymore, who also directs) has plenty of loving, supportive men around her. Unfortunately, they are all gay and she craves the amorous attentions of just one straight man.

sound check with chris moss

FIRST things first. The name's supposed to be ironic, OK? And for Alanis Morissette fans who struggle with the definition of irony, its application here reflects the fact this tenacious teenage trio are anything but what their name suggests. Geddit?

StereoTypical really are a strange bunch. They look like they should be spending their spare time hanging around outside McDonalds or writing bad poetry to imaginary lovers, but they've sensibly chosen to record and produce their self-penned debut album instead.

So far, so non-stereotypical but what about their music? With influences as bizarre, diverse and dodgy as their haircuts and a collective age younger than some of the fruit in my cupboard, their sound will be an ugly mess of preachy Coldplay piano-ballads, shrieking punk-pap and guitar hero powerchords, surely?

Well, as luck would have it - and there's more than a sniff of accidental genius here - their implausible sonic adventures somehow land them in the same topsy-turvy eccentric psych-folk-rock netherworld inhabited by Tom Waits, Conor Oberst and a whole bunch of other maverick left-fielders they've probably never heard of. The irony!

● StereoTypical will be unveiling their first album Heaven And Hell at Sawbridgeworth Memorial Hall next Friday. The gig starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £4 on the door.

still showing

NICK & NORAH'S INFINITE PLAYLIST Nick (Michael Cera) is the bass guitarist and the only straight member of a queercore band. He is still madly in love with his self-obsessed ex, Tris (Alexis Dziena), spending hours creating mix CDs which she just throws in the bin ... from where sassy rich girl Norah (Kat Dennings) picks them up. Sparks fly when Nick and Norah finally meet, which only serves to reignite Tris's interest.

VALKYRIE Bryan Singer's war opus relates the final attempt on Hitler's life before his suicide in April 1945. Colonel Claus von Stauffenberg (Tom Cruise) is recruited by the German Resistance to spearhead the assassination. Unfortunately, the film is a plodding history lesson with Cruise giving a one-note performance.

SLUMDOG MILLIONAIRE Irresistible rites of passage drama building to an extraordinary emotional crescendo. Danny Boyle's modern day fairytale charts the extraordinary journey of an orphan from the slums of Mumbai to winner of his country's version of Who Wants To Be A Millionaire?

MY BLOODY VALENTINE 3D Remake of the 1981 slasher flick about a pickaxe wielding killer with the added thrill of flying limbs and appendages.

The very weird way of the warrior

SUKIYAKI WESTERN DJANGO
(Contender Home Entertainment, 15, retail)

It's safe to say there's no other director like Japan's Takashi Miike, a real Renaissance man capable of turning his hand to family superhero adventures, musicals, insanely violent crime flicks such as Ichu The Killer or psychological horrors of almost unbearable intensity.

Here he indulges in brash genre-mashing, fluttering down like some playful magpie to pluck the chief elements from both samurai films and westerns (virtually the same kind of movie anyway), sprinkling on a dash of gangster iconography and Shakespearean echoes before playing it for delirious, cartoonish laughs.

What else to make of a film that boldly opens with Quentin Tarantino as the gunslinger Piringo, cooking up sukiyaki at a campfire on a luridly lit film set with a painted Mount Fuji on the blood-red canvas sky?

There's a story, of sorts, although following it isn't crucial to your enjoyment since Miike often seems happy to throw in random ideas and images for no better reason than they're fun to do or look cool.

The plot of Yojimbo/A Fistful Of Dollars/Django/Last Man Standing (all, unwittingly or otherwise, adaptations of Dashiell Hammett's fine Prohibition-era novel Red Harvest) is roped in for the basic set-up, with an enigmatic stranger known only as 'Gunman' arriving in an isolated town in which two gangs – the red Heike and white Genji – rule the roost in a brutal impasse while seeking a fabled treasure buried thereabouts.

The laws of physics simply don't apply, as gunslingers fire in perfect parabolas to shoot around corners and swordsmen are fast enough to bat bullets away; not to mention such oddly acceptable anachronisms a 19th century cowboys with contemporary facial piercings and modes of dress.

And with an all-Japanese cast speaking English in the manner of growled Italian dubbing, it's impossible to tell where we are – is this a heavily Asian-populated corner of the Old West or a very westernised Japan?

Does it even matter in a film whose sole mission is to be full-on, frantic fun from start to finish?

Star rating: ★★

LIFE (SEASON 1)
(Universal Playback, 15, retail)

If, like me, you're a lost cause twitching and Jonesing for another fix of The Shield (the greatest crime show ever) and The Wire, you'll know how hard it is to unearth something different enough to hit the spot. Life satisfies on a variety of levels – it's got a quirky sensibility, isn't afraid to get up close to the unpleasantness, has a fascinating central character in Charlie Crews (Brit abroad Damian Lewis) and features a self-contained case in each episode while also letting slip a few more clues and details concerning the series' major story arc.

Crews is an LA cop, or at least was until he being convicted of an appalling crime and locked up for 12 years of the hardest time imaginable, surviving the beatings and abuse with the aid of zen meditation until new evidence clears him and he settles for millions in compensation and his old job back.

Why the hell would he want to go back to work anyway? Because there's nowhere better to quietly piece together the conspiracy that sent him away in the first place.

Lewis does a great job of playing Crews, making him credibly offbeat and randomly philosophical yet also a solid, intuitive cop; he's a likeable loon, but at the same time gives just enough of a hint that, maybe, he really is unbalanced enough to have killed.

He's well matched by Sarah Shahi's improbably hot cop Dani, a sober alcoholic and drug addict in recovery who's partnered with Crews to a) punish her and b) find enough dirt for the force to be rid of him although, inevitably, she comes to grudgingly respect and even like him.

This three-disc set features all 11 episodes plus extras including interviews, selected commentaries and features. Season two can't come around fast enough.

Star rating: ★★★★★

WHICKER'S WORLD (VOLUME 2)
(Network, E, retail)

Chipper TV travel journalist Alan Whicker certainly got about, venturing to some truly godforsaken corners of the globe during the 1960s, '70s and '80s with narry a ruffle of his immaculate blazer-and-slacks combo.

In some respects, he's a loose forerunner to the likes of Nick Broomfield and Louis Theroux, inasmuch as his non-confrontational manner buys him access and then allows him to get away with a degree of cheeky impertinence when the occasion requires it.

The 10 shows on these two discs are from a variety of times (although just about all have a quietly hysterical credits sequence of Whicker enjoying slap-up service from the cabin crew) and serve as modest historical documents in their own right.

The Aristocracy Business kicks things off with a downright hilarious series of interviews with several inbred-looking bluebloods and then it's off to such fascinating locations such as the former barbarous French penal colony of Devil's Island (from which one inmate escaped by murdering four others and tying their bodies together to form a raft), Hong Kong's vanishing floating community, the start of building work at Disneyworld Florida, a gently collapsing Vienna, the harsh Aussie mining town of Coober Pedy, snow-blashed Anchorage and ex-pat Brits in LA, plus interviews with Ronnie Biggs' wife Charmain and the Sultan of Brunei.

Star rating: ★★★★★

EDITH PIAF: THE PERFECT CONCERT & PIAF: THE DOCUMENTARY
(Acorn Media, E, retail)

Sure to delight devotees of France's foremost cultural icon, this two-disc set combines a broad collection of performances by 'The Little Sparrow' plus a wealth of background material.

Abandoned by her mother and raised in a Normandy brothel, Piaf ran away to survive on the streets of Paris by virtue of her powerful voice.

Discovered and booked for a club, she learned how to control and modulate her talent and use it to perform semi-autobiographical songs of love and loss, written for her, to heart-breaking effect.

The performance footage captures much of her personality and disarming charm as well as that distinctive voice, while the second disc of documentary materials includes a wealth of interviews with those who knew and were influenced by Piaf, plus remarkable film of her being interviewed at the time of her manager's murder in 1936.

Hammer time

By ALAN SCOTT
Sports Editor
scotta@hertssexnews.co.uk

WEST Ham United are launching FREE football coaching sessions for young children in Harlow starting later this month.

The club's pre-academy coach Jim Hampsheir has linked up with former Bristol Rovers midfielder Colin Williams to run the sessions as the Hammers search for the next Rio Ferdinand and Joe Cole.

Hampsheir said: "At West Ham you are never too old or too young to join – if you are good enough."

A fun day will take place for Reception, Year 1 and Year 2 boys (4- to 7-year-olds) at the Norman Booth Leisure Centre in Old Harlow on February 20.

It is the start of regular weekly sessions the East London club has financed.

Hampsheir and Williams, who lives in Old Harlow, says the town is a prime site for new talent.

Harlow has been a strong source for good footballing talent in the past.

"I have been around the schools in Harlow and there are plenty of good players," said Hampsheir. "There is so much potential in Harlow. It's a key area. We want to work with the kids in the town and expand these sessions. There is bound to be untapped talent."

Hampsheir has been with the Hammers since 1997 and has seen the likes of Manchester United star Ferdinand, plus Chelsea's Frank Lampard and Cole come through the ranks at Upton Park.

He trains boys aged from 6 up to

West Ham launch soccer camp

STRIVING FOR SUCCESS: West Ham United boss Gianfranco Zola

14-years-old, working closely with West Ham's Academy supremo Tony Carr.

The sessions in Harlow will be run by up to six coaches, including the club's full-time FA qualified Academy staff.

Hampsheir says the recently refurbished Norman Booth, with its plush viewing gallery to enable parents to watch their children, is an ideal venue. "I'm really excited about the new centre. Now it has been renovated it's a great facility to use as a development centre," he said.

"It's a great location and gives kids a chance to come down and have a chance."

Keeping with the club's tradition, the coaching sessions will be based largely on introducing kids to skills and technique but with the emphasis on fun.

"Everything we do will be fun based. It's important that the kids enjoy it," said Hampsheir.

"West Ham are renowned for playing good football and we produce good footballers from a very young age. We have plenty of small sided games. We want the kids to take lots of touches – that's how they learn."

Williams, who also manages the Harlow Town U-18 team who are currently top of the Eastern Junior Alliance league, explained: "We are looking for a certain type of player that we can take to the next level."

"Jim is passionate about the development of youngsters. If we feel they have a talent we will take them to West Ham and they will develop them from there."

"The secret is a good coach, while the goal is to be a professional footballer. You try to guide them in the right direction."

"Hopefully this [the Norman Booth Leisure Centre] will become a hub."

● PLACES are still available for the fun day. Call in at the Norman Booth Leisure Centre for an application form.

Harlow denied by late leveller

Saffron Walden 2, Harlow 2

(East Men's Hockey League, division three south east)

JOE Symonds' side picked up a valuable point at Saffron Walden after a committed performance.

Harlow started the match well and looked dangerous when attacking on Saturday.

Defensively they also looked good with the tough tackling of Ali Castle and Symonds frustrating the young Walden attack.

However, the hosts went ahead with half-time approaching. Harlow gave away a short corner which was expertly converted.

Harlow stepped up a gear in the second half with the pacy attack of Craig Cholerton and Ben Light causing the opposition defence problems.

Eventually the prolonged pressure told as Adam Ottley, making his first first team appearance of the season, squeezed the ball past the Walden keeper to make it 1-1.

This sparked the hosts back into life and the match became an end-to-end affair.

Harlow took the lead when Cholerton slotted the ball into the far corner after an excellent individual run which saw him beat three Walden defenders.

But the visitors were denied a crucial three points when Walden equalised with 10 minutes remaining.

Late on, Cholerton dragged a shot wide and Walden had a 'goal' chalked off after it was deemed that the ball had not left the 'D' from a penalty corner routine.

HARLOW (squad): Armsworth, Castle, Torvel, Kirk, Harvey, Symonds (c), Kroszka, Ottley, Shearman-Slack, Cholerton, Light, Adams, Hagger.

Clinical Rushton key as Ladies cut gap at the top

VICTORY in Saturday's five-goal thriller against Maldon left Emma Tweddle's side just three points behind third-placed Brentwood.

The visitors started strongly, pinning Maldon back for the first 10 minutes.

Despite an array of shots from Carolyn Rushton, Alex Figg and Charlotte Byers, Harlow were unable to capitalise.

The visitors then suffered a setback when Anita Shearman was injured and had to leave the field.

A reshuffled midfield struggled to string together too many meaningful passes and as the half wore on Maldon were able to push forward.

A free hit awarded on the edge of the 'D' lifted high over the heads of the Harlow defence and fell kindly to a Maldon attacker who slotted easily past keeper Nicky Newland. Stung, Harlow levelled almost immediately as Byers and Figg combined and the latter scored.

Shearman returned to the action but Harlow still found it difficult to find a steady rhythm.

Maldon took advantage from a short corner but they were denied a second goal by a goal-line block from Jo Green. But Harlow were unable to clear the danger and Maldon scored to lead 2-1 at the break.

(Essex Women's Hockey League, premier division)

Tweddle went close soon after the restart following another foraging run by Rushton.

Sonya Amos was instrumental as the visitors' passing began to tell on Maldon, while player of-the-match Rushton continued to produce outstanding solo runs to split the Maldon defence.

Anna Ferdinando picked up the ball in midfield and after a one-two with Tweddle she crossed to Amos who stopped the ball for Tweddle to finish in the far corner.

Harlow again pushed forward and Rushton was denied by a superb save by the Maldon keeper from her reverse-stick strike.

Maldon did not heed the warning and another reverse stick strike from Rushton was successful late on.

HARLOW (squad): Newland, Green, Shearman, Hansson, Figg, Reilly, Tweddle, Rushton, Amos, Byers, Ferdinando, Donaghey, Hawes.

Ronnies Flyer is set for take off

Welcome to our exciting new column, giving an insight into Harlow Greyhound Stadium as our inside man gives his tips for tomorrow.

RONNIES FLYER looks set to return to winning ways this Friday night in the stayers' contest at 10pm.

After an unfortunate defeat last time out, this powerful black has been given an excellent chance by the racing manager to make amends.

Despite lacking early pace he should find himself in a decent position and can strike the front approaching the fifth bend.

ANNIES FALCON stays best of the rest and can fill second spot.

Another race of interest tomorrow is the other stayers' event at 8.45pm.

Wide running TAYLOR MADE has been a model of consistency since arriving at Harlow and if he maintains this level of form should be good enough to account for some modest rivals.

Perfectly housed in trap 6, he can gain a clear run throughout and assert down the home straight.

TWO GOOD: Hawks striker John Frendo, who struck twice (TH2RYGVN-09), and, inset, first team coach Kevin Warren

FIRST team coach Kevin Warren helped out at the back as Harlow Town secured a crucial victory in the six-pointer at Harrow Borough.

Thirty-year-old Warren played in the crunch match on Saturday after injuries to central defenders Danny Gudgeon (foot) and Paul Kear (hamstring).

Harlow, boosted by the return of suspended duo right-back Mark Taylor and central midfielder Leon Lalite, took the lead after only 14 minutes.

James Hasell's long goal-kick found Dee Okojie and he beat a defender before finding skipper Jamie Richards, who skillfully took the ball around Harrow stopper Laurie Walker and tucked the ball home from close range.

The visitors doubled the lead six minutes later. A neat ball from left-back Michael Bardle found John Frendo and his 20-yard lob beat Walker who was well off his line.

The hosts halved the deficit on 29 minutes. Kai Williams' cross from the right went beyond the far post and Dorian Smith headed it back into the danger zone to the unmarked Jonathan Constant who stabbed the ball in from close range.

However, Harlow restored their two-goal advantage when Taylor fired in a penalty on 36 minutes. This was awarded after Tobi Jinadu handled the ball in the box.

Frendo netted his second goal on 54 minutes to make it 4-1. Richards did well to beat two men before slotting through to Frendo and he showed tremendous composure as he rounded Walker and rolled the ball in.

Bardle made a superb goal-line clearance a few minutes later from Dwayne Clarke.

Harlow were given a lifeline when the referee awarded a dubious penalty on 70 minutes from a Taylor foul on Constant. However, Constant's spot-kick was well saved by Hasell, diving low to his left.

Near the end, Taylor's superb 30-yard free-kick hit the cross bar and bounced on the line before being cleared by Walker.

Hawks boss Glen Alzapiedi said: "We showed a lot of resolution and defended well against a more physical side."

"We have now scored 13 goals in four league games since I came here. If we can get the same level of efficiency from the rest of the team we will be a very tough team to play against."

HARLOW TN: Hasell 6, Taylor 5 (Webster 85), Bardle 7, Stewart 6, Warren 6, Berry 6, Lalite 5, S. Gliddon 5, Richards 7, Frendo 7, OKOJIE 7. Subs not used: Lampe, Green, Ellerbeck, Stone (gk). Att: 162.

Cougars end county cup quest

A NARROW defeat at Cambridge Cougars ended Harlow Hawks' hopes of lifting this year's Herts County Cup.

It might seem rather strange a Cambridgeshire team hosting an Essex side in the last eight of this competition, but that was the case for these two Hertfordshire Basketball League teams.

Hawks restricted Cougars to a single score in the first five minutes, while Mark Haddow, Paul Jessop and Shab Niaz (three-pointer) kept the score ticking over for the visitors.

Mike Freeman added to the Harlow score before Nick Moss was successful with a bonus shot.

Further scores from Haddow and Freeman extended Hawks lead, but some sloppy passing allowed Cougars to make it 19-12 at the end of the quarter.

Russ Allan got the scoring moving for Hawks from a baseline drive lay-up but then Cougars went on a 9-2 run to bring them close to Hawks.

Three-pointers by Niaz and Jessop kept Hawks ahead.

A buzzer-beating Jessop score ensured Harlow went into the half-time break with a 36-28 lead.

Cougars stormed back in the third quarter with an 18-2 run.

Harlow finished the quarter strongly with scores from Freeman, Jessop and Moss.

A 9-2 run by the hosts opened up a gap before Russ Allan's three-pointer reduced the arrears.

Cougars closed out the game with two successful free-throws.

Coach Shab Niaz reflected: "We played well as a unit up to half-time but in the second half we stopped working at both ends of the floor and for one another. Cougars stepped up a gear and we didn't respond."

HARLOW HAWKS: Jessop (19), Niaz (12), Haddow (8), Freeman (8), Moss (8), Allan (7), Sharma, Burgess, Jones, Collier.

Narrow loss for brave Rams

Full-back Sean Banks (dislocated thumb) and flanker Robert Cochrane (knee ligament damage) were forced off after 20 and 55 minutes respectively.

Sudbury went ahead after two minutes when a centre broke clear to run in an easy try which he converted for a 7-0 lead.

The Rams withoutst pressure before Lee Harron, playing in the unaccustomed role at fly-half, kicked a penalty for the visitors.	RUGBY

Harron replying after the home kicker scored. Then Sudbury stretched their lead again. A long kick upfield fell nicely for their forwards and the ball was recycled before flanker Jonathan Coone ran in a try, which was converted to leave Harlow trailing 17-6.

Simon Vanbeck was a hero for the Rams at both ends. He pulled off a try-saving tackle before he burst through to touch down an unconverted try near the corner.

But Harlow could not conjure another score.

The side are next at home to Braintree in nine days' time.

Teen shines again

FOURTEEN-year-old Douglas Thomas followed his 140 out shot last week with a 180 in the Harlow & District Premier Darts League.

However, it was not enough to stop his CC Colts team going down 5-4 at TG Whites.

A slow start to the season is now a distant memory for CC Foxes. They recorded their fourth consecutive 7-2 win, this time at Stow Snooker Club.

Foxes were boosted by a 180 from Colin Brown. League leaders White Admiral beat Moot House 8-1 to move four points ahead of Servo Hawks who lost 5-4 to MH Arrows.

FC Arrows went down 3-6 to UG Social who had Len Culver and Alec Anderson on target with 180s.

Dicky Smith helped himself to a 111 outshot in Young Pretenders' 6-3 victory at Golden Swift.

Billy is UK number 1

BILLY Falconer recorded a national grade 1 leap and broke his own personal best in the high jump at the London Games at the Lee Valley Athletics Centre in North London.

The Harlow teenager leapt a massive 1.90m to win the U-17 men's competition at the Edmonton venue on Sunday. He is now rated joint first in the UK for U-17 men.

Harlow's Markus Hunt ran 49.8s in winning the U-20 400m.

Epping's Kathrine Foy clocked PBs in the 200m (27.66s) and 400m (59.69s). She won both races.

North Weald's Jess Docking was an excellent 14th in the South of England Inter Counties Championship. She represented Essex in the 6km race, clocking in 25 mins, 57 secs.

Star to the rescue

"Fortunately Alan Scott and Jamie Richards were able to get us to Harrow between their two cars."

Star Sports Editor Alan said: "I was happy to help. The club has been very good to David Rimmer and myself over the years so it's nice to do them a favour for a change."

Alan took most of the kit back to Barrows Farm after the game. He also gave Shaw and team physio Paul West-Hook a ride home.

Star comes to the rescue

THE Star came to the rescue when the Harlow Town FC team mini-bus broke down on its way to Harrow ahead of Saturday's league match.

Hawks president Ron Bruce was driving the vehicle on the M25 when it was struck by debris and forced off the road.

Harlow Town press officer Billy Shaw contacted Star sports editor Alan Scott, above, as he made his way to Harrow Borough's ground.

Alan was just two junctions away from the team mini-bus, so stopped to load up most of the kit as well as taking central defender Paul Kear, Shaw and the club photographer Gary Lockwood to the game.

Bruce never got to the match, which Harlow won 4-1, as he waited for his vehicle to be recovered and taken back to Harlow.

Club skipper Jamie Richards also picked up some of the players.

"We are very thankful to the Star for helping us out," said Shaw.

"There aren't many local papers about that cover their local teams' away games, and even after waiting behind to help bring the kit back, the sports team still managed to get the match report online after the game."

Wolf's on the prowl

New centre-half lined up to make Hawks debut

DANNY Wolf, right, has been snapped up by Glen Alzapiedi as the Harlow Town boss boosts his team's defence in their battle against relegation.

The former Bishop's Stortford central defender signed for the club earlier this week from Enfield Town and is the eighth player to link up with ex-Ware boss Alzapiedi at Barrows Farm.

The Hawks manager said: "He will give us a physical presence with his headers and tackles. He will be a leader for the players around him and is a good organiser."

Wolf is set to come in for the Ryman premier division home game against Ashford Town this Saturday. Utility player Danny Gudgeon is still ruled out with a foot injury, but young defender Paul Kear may make a return.

Kear sustained a hamstring injury in the 3-3 draw at Boreham Wood 12 days ago.

Alzapiedi said: "It was not a bad tear and he might be OK."

The Hawks boss knows he can use Kevin Warren again after the first team coach played in central defence at Harrow Borough. "He did all that was asked of him and is there if I need him," Alzapiedi said.

The 4-1 win over Harrow lifted

Harlow out of the bottom five.

"There are three teams right at the bottom in danger. We are in the five or six teams above them and want to get away from there as soon as possible," said Alzapiedi.

Snow caused the postponement of Harlow Town's scheduled league game at Billericay Town on Tuesday.

This game will now be played on Tuesday March 31.

The home league match against Maidstone United has been rearranged for Tuesday March 10 at Barrows Farm.

Harlow's league match at Heybridge Swifts will now take place on Tuesday March 3).

Gold medal star is a smash hit at table tennis club

TWENTY-four table tennis enthusiasts received a master class from a former Commonwealth Games Gold medalist in Old Harlow.

Gareth Herbert, who was supported by England international Natalie Green and her husband Alex (a former Nottinghamshire county player), ran a two-day course for players from the Eastern Region at the BATTs (Booth Academy of Table Tennis) centre in Elderfield at the weekend.

It included four youngsters from the host club: Luke Walsh (11), Natasha Walsh (12), Ethan Walsh (6) and Adam Lake (11). Herbert won the gold medal at the Games in Manchester in 2002.

The sessions used a China-made robot machine which fires out balls at up to 90 miles an hour at players and this proved particularly popular. Neil Brierley, the BATTs secretary, said: "The event went really well and another one will be held in May. "The robot can be faster than actual serves in games so players are able to cope in matches. It should only be used to complement the coach."
